Charges Preferred Against Commissioner Rollins—Revenue Appointments—Naval Changes—Postoffice Frauds.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, July 9, 1868.

ARREST OF COMMISSIONER ROLLINS ORDERED.

Information received here to-day from New York states that warrants issued by United States Commissioner Gutman at the instance of Solicitor Binckley, of the Internal Revenue Bureau, include the arrest of Commissioner Rollins. The understanding in the Internal Revenue Department is that he has been charged with dishonest transactions with ex-Collector Smythe and others. The Commissioner regards the proceedings against him as founded altogether on false premises, inasmuch as Collector Smythe was removed on his recommendation, and that Haggerty's distillery was held under his instructions. Of the remaining two persons, one was dismissed from service as Inspector for cause, and the other denied reappointment after a trial of sixty days.

NAVAL CHANGES.

Captain W. H. Macomb will be detailed from duty at the Philadelphia Navy Yard, October first, and placed on waiting orders; Captain Alexander Murray relieves him. Commander Homer E. Blake will be detailed from the Portsmouth Navy Yard on the 30th inst. and placed on waiting orders; Commander E. McCauley succeeds him. Lieutenant Commander Charles S. Norton is relieved from duty at the Portsmouth Navy Yard from the 1st inst., and Lieutenant Commander C. C. Carpenter relieves him. Paymaster Judson Post is detached from the naval station at Mound City and will be succeeded by Paymaster Elisha W. Dunn.

APPOINTMENT OF INTERNAL REVENUE OFFICERS.

The following Internal Revenue officers were appointed to-day: Storekeepers—Allen M. Burdic, Milwaukee, Wisconsin; Gaurt M. Lasse, New York City; John R. Warneck, Covington, Kentucky; Bradford Napp, Brooklyn, New York; Michael Kerwin, Philadelphia; Clavton Middletown, New York City. Gaugers—Richard Ellis, Third District, Pennsylvania; Jas. P. Morrison, Second District, Pennsylvania; H. A. Otto Hertzog, Thirty-second District, New York; John W. O'Brien, Ninth District, New York; Wm. Merrifield, Fifth District, New York.

Gen. Orlando Brown, Assistant Commissioner of the Freedmen's Bureau, has been honorably discharged, but he will be retained in the service as a civil agent.

THE CONSPIRACY AGAINST COMMISSIONER ROLLINS.

There has been considerable stir to-day over the notice received by telegraph last night by Commissioner Rollins, that a warrant had been been issued for his arrest [illegible] conspiracy to defraud the Revenue. As [illegible] which he is charged with [illegible] spiring, are men whose [illegible] have been closed by Mr. Rollins' orders, or displaced officer, who have been turned out on his recommendation, the charge looks upon its face like one trumped up to serve a purpose. The President and Secretary McCulloch seem to be really annoyed at the occurrence, and the President sent his private Secretary this afternoon to Mr. Rollins to explain that the affair was not of his (the President's) instigation, and that he regretted its occurrence. It appears that the Assessor went to the President, with statements about certain frauds on the revenue, and was told by him to take the information to Solicitor Binckley as the proper officer to investigate the subject. Binckley went to New York for that purpose, and, it appears, has brought himself into discredit with those he wished to serve.

THE BUFFALO POST OFFICE FRAUDS.

Three persons connected with the Postoffice Department, Treasury Department and Public Printing Office, were arrested here yesterday, and examined before Judge Wylie, of the District Court, charged with complicity in the Buffalo frauds upon the Postoffice Department. As no evidence appeared implicating them, they were discharged.

General Augur's forces are now moving to intercept the Indians going north. General Sherman, who is at Fort Sanders, thinks they are going for Ash Hollow. General Sheridan has sent an active force of cavalry to the head of Fleure Creek and the Republican river, under Colonel Forsyth. There are about one hundred Colorado volunteers in the field.

A dispatch from Cheyenne, dated September 1st, says: A large force of Indians are coming toward North Platte, from Cache la Poudre, with a large herd of stolen stock. Two companies of cavalry left Fort Russell this morning to cut them off. NEW YORK CITY.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

NEW YORK, September 2, 1868.

A correspondence took place recently between Mr. Seward and Lord Stanley, through the medium of Mr. Moran, American Charge d'Affairs at London, and Mr. Thornton, the British Envoy at Washington, on the subject of the Fenian prisoners, Warren and Costello, who are naturalized citizens of the United States. The correspondence has been published in full in the London journals, but the main points are simply these: Mr. Seward writes to Mr. Moran a request to read the letter to Lord Stanley, to the effect that the House of Representatives of the United States had passed a resolution requesting the President to take such measures as shall appear proper to secure the release from imprisonment of Messrs. Warren and Costello, convicted and sentenced in Great Britain for words and acts spoken and done in this country, by ignoring our naturalization laws, and to take such other measures as will secure their return to our flag, with such ceremonies as are appropriate to the occasion; and he, therefore, urges the unconditional release of these prisoners. Lord Stanley, in his reply, through Mr Thompson, says:

"As regards the imprisonment of Messrs. Warren and Costello, I have to point to you that the allegation on which Mr. Seward's request for their release is founded, viz: that they were convicted and sentenced for words spoken and acts committed in the United States, rests on a total misconception of the facts in the case. These prisoners were convicted of treason and felony at the Commission Court for the county of Dublin, held in October last. The most prominent overt act insisted upon and proved against them being, that they come to Ireland and cruised along the coast with intent to effect a landing of men and arms in Ireland, and in order to raise an insurrection against the Queen. The evidence adduced against these prisoners in the course of the trial of words spoken and acts committed by them in the United States, was given in strict accordance with the rules of war, as part of the testimony connecting them with a Fenian conspiracy which had existed in the county of Dublin, in which county the Commission Court sat, and which conspiracy had for its object the subversion of Her Majesty's authority and the establishment of a republic in Ireland."

A letter from Syria in the Post says the Turks have lately committed another act of vandalism in Crete, which should not escape the notice of civilized Europe and America. The olive trees, heavy with the crop which promised to sustain the half-starved Christians of the heroic Isle, have been entirely destroyed, that the women and children may be forced by famine to yield to the Ottoman power. The Commander-in-Chief has also issued an order for the heads of families to bring back to Crete all refugees under penalty of confiscation of their lands and effects.

England and the Chinese Treaty with United States—Indications of the Preservation of Peace in Europe.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

GREAT BRITAIN.

LONDON, September 2.—The Times to-day devotes its leading column to a long analysis of the treaty recently concluded by the United States Government with the Emperor of China, through the Embassy now visiting America with Mr. Burlingame at its head. The Times says England is more interested in China than any other power. Her commerce with that country is larger, and since the treaty of Pekin her relations with its Government have been more friendly. She assisted the Imperial authorities in putting down the Taeping rebellion. England is the proper power for China to employ as a medium for revising her treaties with other nations; but this treaty with the United States, aiming to restore the old exclusive policy, has been rightly entrusted to the manipulation of foreigh counselors, who advise what is impossible, the restoration of a retrograde system. The writer then proceeds to dissect one by one the articles of the new treaty. He calls attention to the fact that China obtains no concession from the United States. On the other hand, the latter gains a monopoly of railway and telegraph improvements. This is of itself a sufficient objection to the treaty. Yet the question may be asked, is it wise for England to multiply her differences with America on such grounds as these? The article concludes as follows: We are bound to say, with conviction, that there is more underneath these negotiations than appears on their surface. They bear distinct traces of foreign inspiration. It is our belief that this mission did not originate with the Chinese government. The idea of enlisting Mr. Burlingame as a recruit for the furthering of Chinese ends, so far from being spontaneous, emanated from a foreign brain and was suggested by the departure from China of the American Minister, which was drawing near at the time the plan was formed. No doubt the proposition was joyfully welcomed by the Ministers of the Chinese Emperor, who, having one object at heart, gave one instruction to their Ambassadors, viz.: Stop all progress. As for the rest, ca te blanche. Say and do what you please, this treaty, concerted by the Embassy on their passage from China to San Francisco, is the result now before us.

PARIS, September 2.—The Moniteur, the official organ of the Government, in its last issue, has an article on the state of Europe. Maj. Gen. Alfred H. Terry, amid much applause, accepted the appointment to deliver the triennial address on that occasion. A recess was then declared until evening, when a banquet took place at the St. James.

Spiritualism in the White House.

The Washington correspondent of the Boston Post, under date of Thursday, says:

A strange scene was presented at the Executive Mansion to-day. Mrs. Daniels, a great Boston medium, was in waiting with a spiritual communication from Abraham Lincoln, which she was directed to deliver to President Johnson. In the crowded ante-room was a female with pale and haggard features who, approaching Mrs. Daniels, asked for a card. Mrs. Daniels: "Have you lost a son, Madam, named William?" The astonished woman answered in the affirmative. "He is now present with you, and requests me to say that you must not worry yourself, as your business matters will all come out right." The woman was paralyzed with astonishment. "Your husband, also," continued the medium, "who was lately killed on the railroad, is here in company with your son." The poor stupefied woman was borne half unconscious to a sofa, whispering, "Yes, he was killed five months ago on a railroad," —while the audience looked on, wondering and speculating. What the communication to President Johnson was, remains to be divulged.

CITY AND SUBURBAN.

Shooting Affray in Robinson Township—Probable Homicide—The Perpetrators Surrenders.

A shooting affray occurred in Robinson township yesterday morning, resulting in the serious if not fatal injury of a farmer named David Ross, one of the oldest residents of the township. It seems that the injured man had been in town during Monday, and came home in the evening in an intoxicated condition. Shortly after his arrival he became engaged in an altercation with an employe, a young man named David Tease, beating him in an unmerciful manner. The affair was finally settled and the disturbance quieted down for the evening. The next morning, Ross meeting his victim, again commenced the quarrel, when Tease drew a revolver and fired, the shot taking effect in the breast of his assailant, producing injuries which will probably prove fatal. Soon after being shot Ross was conveyed to his residence and a physician summoned, Tease in the meantime surrendering himself to the authorities to await the result. Dr. Dickson, from this city, aided by the resident physician in Mansfield, made an examination of the wound and pronounced the case hopeless. Tease was brought to the city yesterday and committed to jail by Alderman McMasters in default of $1,000 bail, on a charge of felonious assault and battery with intent to kill. He is about nineteen years of age, and states that he acted only in self defence, after every other method had failed. The injured man at last accounts was living, but no hopes of his recovery were entertained.

Methodist Annual Conference at New Brighton, Pa.

The members of the Pittsburgh Annual Conference met in the First Methodist Church, New Brighton, Pa., on Wednesday, September 2d, 1858, to hold their Thirty-fifth session. After the usual opening services, conducted by Rev. J. W. Rutlege, Dr. Wm. Reeves, President of the Conference, delivered a sermon on the Deaconship, from the 1 Tim. 3. 8, 13, making the following points:

I. The Order of deacon in the primitive Church was not merely financial but also spiritual. After noticing some opinions on the subject, and showing their errors, &c., he proceeded to define the office, as the lowest ecclesiastical office in the Church, quoting Bible texts and statements of the early fathers and lexicon definitions, both ancient and modern. Next the Doctor noticed the origin and object of the order of deacon, claiming that it was brought from the Jewish Church, and proving it from the Bible and theological writers, and as having existed from the beginning of the Christian Church, and that its object was the spiritual service and edification of the Church.

The Doctor insisted that there were two orders of Ministers in the apostolic church, viz: Deacons and Elders, and that the bible and church history clearly prove it.

To be concluded at the opening of the afternoon session.

At 11:30 o'clock Conference opened and proceeded to business. Most of the Ministers were present and responded to their names when the roll was called. Delegates then presented their credentials and took their seats.

The morning session closed with prayer by Rev. J. M. Mason. S. F. C.

THE ANTI-BONDHOLDER.

BY PETER PORCUPINE, JR.

The Democrat sat in his soft cushioned chair,
And he tickled his palate with wine,
That was made of the grapes that cluster so blue
On the banks of the rentonic Rhine.
Then he counted his wealth and he thought of the war,
For his heart was disloyal and cold;
And he laughed and he quaffed, and he smoked his cigar,
As he selfishly hoarded his gold.
What a rollicking fellow was he, was he,
Was that Democrat careless and gay,
And what cared he if the boys in blue
Got never a cent of their pay?

CHORUS.

What a rollicking time I will have said he,
When his Government's bursted and gone,
I will live like a king and sport on my gold,
While others, poor devils, have none.

And the Democrat's wife tossed her head in disdain,
When folks talked of investing in bonds,
Said that she would rather send money to France
To resurrect the old bloody Fronds.
The poor, brave, crippled soldier she could not see,
Nor his children so hungry and cold,
They might go to the devil for all she cared,
They'd get those of her glittering gold.
Oh, a right merry life led she, led she,
That Democrat's wife so gay,
And what cared she if the boys in blue
Got never a cent of their pay?

CHORUS.

What a rollicking time I will have, said she,
When this Government's bursted and gone,
I will live like a queen, and sport on my gold,
While others, poor devils, have none.

Then never a bond did that Democrat buy,
For his heart had grown treacherous and cold,
He did not believe that the nation would live
To pay off their interest in gold.
And it wasn't but that he was greedy enough
To have gained all the gold that he could,
By investing in bonds or anything else
When he deemed the securities good.
What a rank Copperhead was he, was he,
Was that Democrat sordid and cold,
And what cared he for the boys in blue,
Or the Government bonds bearing gold?

CHORUS.

What a rollicking time I will have, said he,
When this Government's bursted and gone,
I will live like a king and sport on my gold,
While others, poor devils, have none.

But Peace came at last, and now the poor fool,
Is devouring his fingers for spite,
And did he but hold a few gold bearing bonds,
He would loudly protest they were right.
But he don't, the poor devil, and is in his rage
Like a beetle pinned up on the wall,
While loyal men all say, let justice be done
Though the heavens above us should fall.
What a cold blooded traitor is he, is he,
Is that Democrat bawling out gold?
Who at Tammany Hall, in the city of New York,
To the black perjured rebels was sold.

CHORUS.

What a rollicking time I have missed says he—
With such beautiful chances all gone,
The soldiers and sailors will spout on their gold,
While I, oh confound it! get none.

It's an even bet that he won't be able to decide whether to begin operations in Pennsylvania, New Jersey, or New York until after the election.—Troy Times.

—A colporteur, during one of his rounds a few days since in Adams county, Ohio, not far from the Mineral Springs, distributing Bibles and Testaments, called upon an old farmer, whom he ascertained was without a copy of the "Word of God." The colporteur asked him if he did not want to purchase a Bible. "No, he didn't want any." "Well," said the colporteur, "if I give you one will you receive and read it?" "No, he didn't want it any way. It was a good enough book to read, but it was full of Republican doctrine, and he didn't want any book of that kind in his family."

—A gas explosion occurred in the fire proof vaults of the United States Mint, in Philadelphia, on Monday. The gas had not been properly turned off on Saturday night, and on Monday, as a strong smell of gas was noticed, Mr. Horner, the mint gas fitter, was sent for and struck a match to find the supposed leak. A terrible explosion followed, throwing Mr. Horner through the door and out of the window of the next room into Juniper street. Mr. Davis and Mr. Steef, clerks, who were at work in the next room, were both badly burned, Mr. Davis losing all the hair on his head and face. The windows, doors, shutters and chimney of the adjoining room were completely shattered, the papers and shelving in the vault were burned, and Dr. Lindermann, the director of the Mint, at work in the room above, was lifted up and thrown from his chair. The three gentlemen who were injured were taken to the hospital, and their recovery, is possible although that of Mr. Horner is very doubtful.

VERY interesting statistics respecting emigration from Ireland have recently been published in Great Britain. It is shown that the total emigration from Great Britain in 1867 was 195,593, a smaller number than in any year since 1862. Of the emigrants, 68,622 were Irish born. The emigration from Ireland direct was 81,724 persons, of whom 79,571 went to the United States; the remainder being nearly equally divided between British America and Australia. Of these emigrants, 44,690 were males, and 34,881 females; about three fourths of each sex being unmarried.

One-half the emigrants consists of tradesmen, mechanics and laborers, having a capital of from from five to fifty pounds; one-fourth of small farmers, shop keepers, &c., with a capital of from one to two hundred pounds the family, and the remaining fourth of persons possessing two hundred pounds and upward the family. The ascertained amount of remittances in 1867, from Irish in the United States to friends at home, was nearly £541,000, or $1,700,000 in gold.

A TERRIBLE case of suffering is reported from Minnesota. Two men were employed in mining upon a desolate island, when by some means a blast exploded, rendering them totally blind. Nine days after this, a party went over to the island from the main land, and finding blood around the spot where the ill-fated men had been at work, they became alarmed, and searched vigorously, and finally found them. They had been without food since the accident; one man's hand and wrist were alive with maggots, and in the eyes of these terribly smitten men these loathsome crawling things were so embedded, that they had to be pulled out with pincers. Loss of blood saved the men from the cravings of a terrible appetite, while both must have been possessed of iron constitutions to have enabled them to survive those terrible nine days.

MANY FARMERS have noticed in their fields a large black beetle, with most brilliant golden dots placed in rows on his back, Dr. Fitch says: "Its eggs produce the corn grub killer. It is a most inveterate foe to the cut-worm, grasping the worm in its strong jaws, and, in spite of its violent writhing and struggling, securely holding it. When it finds the worms in plenty, it gorges and surfeits itself upon them till it is so glutted and distended as to be scarcely able to stir, for it never knows how to let a cut-worm alone when it meets him. It is continually hunting these worms. Both it and the golden dotted beetle, which produces it, therefore, should never be harmed."—Ohio Farmer.

A LIVELY youngster in Hartford, Conn., to avoid the police jumped into the river, and when chased in a boat, dived under the astonished officers and got away. He was afterwards arrested on shore, but his friends broke the officers' heads and rescued him. Then he stripped and took to the river again, but was caught by the hair as he attempted his diving trick and marched through the city stark naked.

The rooms are large and high, and the apparatus and cabinet of a superior kind. The Observatory belonging to it has one of the finest telescopes in the country, is endowed, is in charge of an astronomer of great ability, and is having four new instrumets added to it at an expense of $5 000. All the income from endowment and from tuition is expended in supporting the institution. The aim of the Board of Trustees, who are among our most enterprising and benevolent citizens, is to furnish the best advantages to all our youth equal to those enjoyed in any of our cities. RIVER NEWS.

The rain, judging from present indications, is over for the present, and all hopes of an early rise have vanished for the time being. The weather yesterday was quite pleasant, and the "hot-spell" seems to have passed.

The work of grading and paving the landing above the Monongahela bridge, is progressing finely, and will soon be completed. This is a job that should, as an act of justice to the Monongahela packets, have been done years ago.

—Mr. George D. Strong, formerly of St. Louis, and well-known in river circles, has left the river, and is now treasurer of the National Theatre at Cincinnati.

—It was rumored at Cincinnati on Monday that the Nashville Packet Company were negotiating for the Kate Robinson, to supply the place of the Pine Grove, recently burned.

—The Cincinnati Times says that Captain John Booth will this fall reorganize a barge line to ply between Cincinnati and St. Louis and probably a line between there and New Orleans.

—Thursday last, while the Pauline Carroll was lying at Baton Rouge, the carcass of an alligator was ejected from the wheelhouse and floated down stream. It was, probably, killed by coming in contact with the buckets of the steamer's wheel, and lifted by them into the wheel-house.

—The Cincinnati Gazette, of Tuesday, says: We consider this a timely question: Why is it that Madison, Pittsburgh and Jeffersonville are doing nearly all the boat building, when our mechanics are the equals, if not the peers, of any in those cities? There must be a good reason for this.

—A St. Louis dispatch under date Monday says: River rose twenty-six inches and all upper streams sweling. All the small tributaries are pouring out large volumes of water, the result of late heavy rains. This rise will improve navigation, and relieve boats and barges between here and Cairo. Weather cloudy damp and cold.

—Commodore Wm. F. Davidson, of the White Collar packet line, has recently made a purchase on what is known as the Sioux Reservation, in Redwood county, Minn. He has entered seventeen thousand acres of excellent wheat lands, and next year he contemplates breaking extensively on this tract prepatory to raising wheat the following year. The land is but a few mills from the Minnesota river, by which route his grain would be shipped to market and the supply for the farm be received.

—The Memphis Avalanche says: The planters along the bends are busily engaged in picking cotton, though we learn that the negroes in Arkansas are leaving the plantations in droves, and are joining the militia which is to be raised. The negroes consider $13 per month to play soldier better employment than to pick cotton. For the present it may be a good thing for the poor, deluded negro, but in the end it will prove disastrous to their entire race; as we predicted, that the day is not far distant when good and reliable white labor will supercede the unreliable negro labor throughout the entire South.

—The Cincinnati Commercial, of Tuesday, says: Captain Andy Robinson, Jr., goes to Pittsburgh to take command of the Glasgow this season. He contemplates placing her in one of the Southern bayou trades as a regular packet. Parties are negotiating for the purchase of the Kate Robinson, but up to last evening the sale had not been consummated. Capt. Lon Bryson and Mr. Robt. H. Kerr, well-known in river circles, have engaged in the commission and produce business. Capt. Dick G. Fowler has returned from his cruise through West Tennessee, and reports the crops promising, and every indication of a lively trade in that direction this season. Captain Fowler still adheres to the "singular rule of three."

CALIFORNIA holds her State election biennially. As it occurred last year, the next will be in 1859. She will, however, in November, elect Congressmen on the same day with his Presidential Electors.

THE Mass Convention, on the 24th inst. is to be an assemblage worthy of our great cause and of Western Pennsylvania. The Committee of Arrangements are making progress by the appointment of sub-committees and otherwise, and hold another meeting to-day for business connected therewith.

WE do not be believe that it will be possible to repress the exultant gratification of our Republican friends over the glorious news from Vermont. Arrangements should be made to-day, and early in the day, for a suitable demonstration forthwith. We are all minute-men and can move at any short warning.

THE new Democratic rebellion in Arkansas was a little premature and resulted in a failure, a few of the rebels being "wiped out" by the authorities. As an abortive treason it will rank in popular remembrance with the Copperhead revolts of five years ago in one of our own Northern counties and in Holmes county, Ohio.

WE regret to announce that "Old Rosey" is demoralized by the enemy's fire, and discreetly postpones for the present his proposed flank movement in behalf of BLAIR and the unreconstructed rebels. He falls back upon his diplomatic dignity, and has despatched an aid-de-camp to find out what the firing means in the direction of Vermont.

THE recent publication, by a journal of this city, of statements impugning the correctness of opinions generally entertained at the North, as to the disturbed condition of the South, and especially of Tennessee, socially and politically, has induced us to solicit the testimony of a gentleman now in the city, whose opportunities have been ample for a personal knowledge of the facts. The writer (whose name is at the service of enquiring friends at this office) will be recognized by all who know him as a citizen of great intelligence, and of indisputable veracity. We invite for his article the careful perusal of his fellow-citizens.

THE MAYORALITY.

The Democrats know full well that they have not the slightest chance of re-electing Mr. BLACKMORE, either on his own merits or on political issues. Hence they are endeavoring to prevail on Mr. JEREMY to run as an independent candidate, hoping in that way to draw Republicans enough from the support of Mr. BRUSH to let Mr. BLACKMORE in. This is a very pretty game, if it could only be managed, but there are insuperable difficulties in the way of the gentlemen who are engaged in it.

In the first place, there are few or no Republicans who are dissatisfied with the municipal ticket. The ranks are as nearly solid and impregnable as they ever were, and nothing is likely to occur to create confusion, but much to strengthen the compactness of the array.

In the next place, we take Mr. JEREMY to be a man of honor, and shall not be easily prevailed upon even to suspect the contrary. Before the primary election at which he contested the nomination with Mr. BRUSH, he voluntarily gave a pledge in writing to abide the result. After the result of that election was announced he publicly acquiesced in the popular verdict. He even called upon Mr. BRUSH at his residence and expressed in the warmest manner, his determination to aid in his election. It cannot be, after all this, that Mr. JEREMY will consent to be made a tool of by the Democrats, to his own dishonor. The devise is creditable to the ingenuity of our opponents; but it seems foreordained to defeat.

VERMONT.

The Green Mountain State gave LINCOLN, in 1860, 26,959 majority, in a poll of 42,844; in '64, LINCOLN'S majority was 29,098, in a poll of 55,740; in '66, DILLINGHAM (Rep.) for Governor, had 22,285 majority in a poll of 45,401; in '67 she gave PAGE (Rep.) for Governor, 20,184, in a total vote of 43,226. But on Tuesday last, in a vote the heaviest ever cast, she re-elects PAGE by a majority of over 30,000. On her largest vote, the Republicans have the most decisive majority ever known to the politics of that State. It is a gain of over 10,000 on the majority of last year, an increase of over fifty per cent., and yet the Democratic press try to dismiss the subject by saying that "Vermont has gone about the same as before."

The first gun from GRANT'S right wing thunders the presage of his final victory among the lofty hills and through all the quiet valleys of that loyal State. As the never-setting "star in the East," Vermont has been known, through all this generation, as the home of intelligence, virtue and patriotism. Never has she failed to meet the popular expectations, or even to transcend the popular estimate of her loyal faith to the most elevated principles of a free Republican government. Accepting now the defiant challenge of the BLAIR Democracy, the friends of the Union in Vermont, under the ever-conquering banners of GRANT, have met the revolutionary issue like brave men, winning an unparalleled success in behalf of the Union, the Constitution and Peace. Much of this auspicious result is due to the matchless popularity of our distinguished leader, and much more to the unfaltering attachment of the people to the Constitution and Laws which afford for all of us the only sure guarantee of our liberties.

And next comes Maine, on the 14th inst. Her voice will be the echo of Vermont's, two days since. And four weeks after will follow, among other States, our own Pennsylvania. Let her people respond loyally to the voices from her New England sisters, The battle opens gloriously! Push on all the columns and we shall have another Appomatox, and with it Peace.

THE KU-KLUX DEMOCRACY.

Gen. FORREST'S frank and explicit confession of the numbers, discipline and designs of the Ku-Klux, the secret Democratic organization in the South, from which we publish extracts from this morning, will arrest the attention of our readers. It is seen that he makes a full and defiant acknowledgement of the truth of all that has been charged by the loyal press against this rebel organization, and, stating that it numbers a half million of men and that he could himself have forty thousand of them in the field at five days' notice, he boldly admits its objects to be a violent resistance to the laws. His declaration that its members "recognize" the Federal government, is to be understood as meaning such a government as JOHNSON, SEYMOUR or BLAIR would administer—a government which nullifies the legislation of Congress, ignores the Judiciary, and proposes to employ the army in crushing those State governments which a loyal people have ordained for the better control of these rebels. His "recognition" does not go the length of supporting the present or any other administration, in enforcing the reconstruction laws, or in upholding the State authorities in such lawful measures as their judgment may suggest for the repression of the rebel spirit among their populations. That the Ku-Klux intend to rebel against the loyal authorities of Tennessee is plainly avowed by their great leader.

That they are acting "of course, in support of the Democratic party," is also avowed. Why and how the interests of SEYMOUR and BLAIR should require this secret and armed organization of half a million Southern Democrats to be kept up, Gen. FORREST does not explicitly show. But it is evident to the dispassionate reader of his remarkable statements, that the Ku-Klux contemplate a good deal more than the orderly and pacific support of their political opinions at the polls. Their secrecy, their discipline, their armed preparations abundantly prove their designs to be unlawful and dangerous to the public peace. They mean violence, outrage, proscription and rebellion. They mean the exclusion of the colored vote from the polls, and the admission of every disfranchised rebel. And they mean the forcible participation of Mississippi, Texas and Virginia in the Presidential election, from which, as disorganized and still practically rebel States,, the laws of a loyal Union have shut them out.

The facts are thus fully disclosed to the American people. To the voters of Pennsylvania, these revelations are especially commended for their thoughtful consideration.

SEYMOUR'S ACCEPTANCE OF NEGRO SUFFRAGE.

The Democratic idea of "a white man's government" is at last thoroughly exploded, the last and finishing stroke being given by the hand of Horatio Seymour, their candidate for the Presidency. He stands on record committed to the principles of equal suffrage, for the enfranchised freedmen. He has another record, that hitherto known as the official record of the New York Convention. which makes no such acknowledgment. But another record, until now kept secret, has been given to the world, and therein stands SEYMOUR, the present candidate of a proscriptive platform and a negro-hating party, the confessed and avowed champion of suffrage for the black race. This revelation sheds a clear, convincing light upon his political insincerity, illustrates the honesty of Democratic leaders, and will open the eyes of hundreds of thousands of honest Democrats who have fondly imagined that they were about to vote "a white man's ticket." But to the facts:

About ten days ago, Col. WM. BROWN, of Nicholasville, Ky., made a very long and able address at Frankfort, in which he exposed the participation of prominent Democrats, Seymour included, at New York, in the scheme to nominate Judge Chase in that Convention. Col. BROWN showed by the clearest testimony that HORATIO SEYMOUR was a leading plotter in that scheme, and that he acted throughout with a sincere intention to secure its success; that the scheme was ultimately defeated by the adroit management of some Ohio politicians who, at the right moment, stepped in and snatched up SEYMOUR himself as a candidate, nominated him in spite of his feeble and whimpering protestations, upon a platform of opposition to the negro, and that he had weakly and treacherously yielded to their violent demands, and thus betrayed his associates in their other intrigue in behalf of Mr. CHASE. The statements of Col. B. were impudently and imprudently contradicted by the N. Y. World, the prominent champion of Mr. SEYMOUR, which now presents that gentleman as the consistent candidate of the freedom-hating Democracy, as a statesman who merits the fullest confidence of every Democratic advocate for a "white man's government," and as the inflexible opponent of equal suffrage as it has been established by Congress in the reconstructed States. And so the World demanded the proof of Col. BROWN'S assertions. That gentleman takes the World at its word, and submits to the public a crushing reply, of which a portion is copied below. He declares himself able and willing to prove the truth of every statement made by him, if the World dares to persist in its denial. We submit this matter to our Democratic readers, recommending them to consider well before they continue longer in the support of a candidate whose duplicity is so shameless, whose weakness of resolution is so contemptible, and whose surrender of the cardinal Democratic idea of hostility to the negro is so clearly established. To our Republican friends we say: When hereafter you hear a Democrat arraigning your party for its action conferring the suffrage upon the freedmen, point him to his own great exemplar, his candidate for the Presidency.

Read the following:

The less the World says of Mr. Seymour the better. I can prove my every statement by good Democrats and gentlemen whose social position is equal, if not superior, to that of Mr. Seymour. I spoke of him as tenderly and gently as I could consistently with the truth; for I pitied his misfortune, and would as soon think of maligning an inmate of our institute for the care of feeble minded persons. I can tell the World that I have in my possession a copy of the platform submitted to the Chief Justice by the progressionists of the Democratic party, and that said platform was seen, read and approved by Horatio Seymour before the Convention met and that it accepts negro suffrage, in the following language:

"The American Democracy, reposing their trust, under God, in the intelligence, the patriotism, and discriminating Justice of the American people, declare their fixed adhesion to the great principles of equal rights, and exact justice for all men and all States.

"That a wise regard to the altered circumstances of the country, and impartial justice to the millions who have been enfranchised, demand the adoption of all proper constitutional measures for the protection, improvement and elevation of this portion of the American people.

"That in a land of Democratic institutions, all public and private interests repose most securely on the broadest basis of suffrage."

This platform has fifteen planks, and is at the service of the World, if that paper will publish it. The provisions are more liberal than those of the Chicago or New York platform as adopted.

Mr. Seymour approved and urged Mr. Chase's nomination on the platform which I have just quoted, and if he denies it I will prove it on him. How does Mr. Seymour reconcile his approval of this platform with the declaration that the "reconstruction acts of Congress are unconstitutional, revolutionary and void," with the letter of Gen. Blair to Colonel Brodhead, which secured his nomination, and with his own letter of acceptance?

As a weeper I regard Mr. Seymour as fully the equal of Job Trotter; as a man of moral courage he rivals Bob Acres; but I do think that the attempt of a few designing politicians, in whose hands he has always been a suppliant tool, to foist him upon the American people as in any sense a statesman, is the grandest farce ever attempted in this country. When our nation so far forgets its pride, its admiration of true courage, the martial glory and warlike spirit of our race, and the memory of the dear heroes who died in the field of battle to make us what we are, as to elect such a man as Horatio Seymour President, then I shall expect to see the eagles meet in convention and elect a buzzard as their kink.

Yours, most respectfully,
WILLIAM BROWN.

THE Nashville Press says: "Few men are accomplishing more for the Grant and Colfax ticket than Generals Forrest and Pike. The earnestness with which they support Seymour and Blair is a good index of the earnestness with which all patriotic men who have been of late acting with the Democratic party will drop them. They did not fight on the Forrest and Pike side during the war, and they will not allow themselves to be found upon that side in fighting out the closing issues of that war. If Forrest would only "toot his horn," as he promises, the way such men would "git" would throw any skedaddling done in the late war into the shade."

THE Troy (N. Y.) Times says: "The plum crop in this section is immense. The trees are loaded down with fruit, and many are so overburdened as to be unable to stand up under the load. The plums on some of them hang almost in clusters like grapes. Not only is the crop abundant, but it is also unusually choice in its character. The gardens in Lansingburgh, where plums appear to be the staple production, are particularly inviting just now on account of the abundance of this fruit."

MR. PENDLETON said, when speaking recently: "I don't see where you all came from." "Excuse me, your riverance," promptly responded an individual in the crowd, "the most of us came from ould Ireland."

THE KU KLUX DEMOCRACY.

They Number Half a Million—A Democratic Organization—Prospect of a Civil War—What Gen. Forrest Says About it—The Facts Given.

The Northern Democracy have denied the existence of a secret organization, among their party in the late rebel States, under the name of "The Ku-Klux Klan," having for its object a violent resistance to the laws. They have constantly declared the statements of the loyal press, in relation to this illegal and revolutionary organization, to be Radical lies. Will they deny the facts as charged, in the face of the frank admissions made by FORREST, the Fort Pillow butcher, last week, to the correspondent of the Cincinnati Commercial, who visited him to ascertain the facts concerning this Ku-Klux Klan. The conversation is fully reported in the Commercial of September 1, and we extract as follows:

MEMPHIS, TENN., August 28, 1868.

My first visit to-day was to General Forrest, whom I found at his office at 8 o'clock this morning, hard at work, although complaining of an illness contracted at the New York Convention. The New Yorkers must be a hard set indeed, for I have not met a single delegate from the Southern States who has not been ill ever since he went there. But to General Forrest. Now that the Southern people have elevated him to the position of their great leader and oracle it may not be amiss to preface my conversation with him with a brief sketch of the gentleman. * * * *

Previous to the war—in 1852—he left the business of planter, and came to this city and engaged in the business of "negro trader," in which traffic he seems to have been quite successful, for, by 1861, he had become the owner of two plantations a few miles below here, in Mississippi, on which he produced about a thousand bales of cotton each year, in the meantime carrying on the negro trading. In June, 1861, he was authorized by Governor Harris to recruit a regiment of cavalry for the war, which he did, and which was the nucleus around which he gathered the army which he commanded as a Lieutenant General at the end of the war.

After being seated in his office, I said:

"General Forrest, I came especially to learn your views in regard to the condition of your civil and political affairs in the State of Tennessee, and the South generally. I desire them for publication in the Cincinnati Commercial. I do not wish to misrepresent you in the slightest degree, and therefore only ask for such views as you are willing I should publish."

"I have not now," he replied, "and never have had any opinion on any public or political subject which I would object to having published. I mean what I say, honestly and earnestly, and only object to being misrepresented. I dislike to be placed before the country in a false position, especially as I have not sought the reputation which I have gained."

I replied: "Sir, I will publish only what you say, and then you can not possibly be misrepresented. Our people desire to know your feeling toward the General Government, the State government of Tennessee, the Radical party, both in and out of the State, and upon the question of negro suffrage." * * * * *

"In the event of Governor Brownlow's calling out the militia, do you think there will be any resistance offered to their acts?" I asked.

"That will depend upon circumstances. If the militia are simply called out, and do not interfere with or molest any one, I do not think there will be any fight. If, on the contrary, they do what I believe they will do, commit outrages, or even one outrage, upon the people, they and Mr. Brownlow's government will be swept out of existence; not a Radical will be left alive. If the militia are called out, we cannot but look upon it as a declaration of war, because Mr. Brownlow has already issued his proclamation directing them to shoot down the Ku-Klux wherever they find them, and he calls all Southern men Ku-Klux."

"Why, General, we people up North have regarded the Ku-Klux-Klan as an organization which existed only in the frightened imaginations of a few politicians."

"Well, sir, there is such an organization, not only in Tennessee, but all over the South, and its numbers have not been exaggerated."

"What are its numbers, General?"

"In Tennessee there are over forty thousand; in all the Southern States they number about five hundred and fifty thousand men."

"What is the character of the organization, may I enquire?"

"Yes sir. It is a protective, political, military organization. I am willing to show any man the constitution of the society. The members are sworn to recognize the Government of the United States. It does not say anything at all about the government of the State of Tennessee. Its objects originally were protection against Loyal Leagues and the Grand Army of the Republic, but after it became general it was found that political matters and interests could best be promoted within it, and it was then made a political organization, giving its support, of course, to the Democratic party."

"But is the organization connected throughout the State?"

"Yes, it is. In each voting precinct there is a captain, who, in addition to his other duties, is required to make out a list of names of men in his precinct, giving all the Radicals and all the Democrats who are positively known, and showing all the doubtful on both sides and of both colors. The list of names is forwarded to the Grand Commander of the State, who is thus enabled to know who are our friends and who are not."

"Can you, or are you at liberty to give me the name of the commanding officer of this State?

"No, it would be impolitic."

"Then I suppose that there can be no doubt of a conflict if the militia interfere with the people; is that your view?"

"Yes, sir; if they attempt to carry out Governor Brownlow's proclamation, by shooting down Ku-Klux—for he calls all Southern men Ku-Klux—if they go to hunting down and shooting down these men, there will be war, and a bloodier one than we have ever witnessed. I have told these Radicals here what they might expect in such an event. I have no powder to burn killing negroes. I intend to kill the Radicals. I have told them this and more: there is not a Radical leader in this town but is a marked man, and if a trouble should break out not one of them would be left alive. I have told them that they were trying to create a disturbance and then slip out and leave the consequences to fall upon the negro, but they can't do it. Their houses are picketed, and when the fight comes not one of them would ever get out of this town alive. We don't intend they shall ever get out of the country. But I want it distinctly understood that I am opposed to any war, and will only fight in self-defense. If the militia attack us, we will fight to the last, and if necessary, I think I could raise forty thousand men, in five days, ready for the field."

"Do you think, General, that the Ku-Klux have been of any benefit to the State?"

"No doubt of it. Since its organization the Leagues have quit killing and murdering our people. There were some foolish young men who put masks on their faces and rode over the country, frightening negroes; but orders have been issued to stop that, and it has ceased. You may say further, that three members of the Ku-Klux have been court-martialed and shot for violations of the orders not to disturb or molest the people."

"What do you think of General Grant?" I asked.

"I regard him as a great military commander, a good man, honest and liberal, and if elected, will, I hope and believe, execute the laws honestly and faithfully. And by the way, a report has been published in some of the papers, stating that while Gen. Grant and lady were at Corinth, in 1862, they took, and carried off, furniture and other property. I here brand the author as a liar. I was at Corinth only a short time ago, and I personally investigated the whole matter, talked with the people with whom he and his lady staid while there, and they say that their conduct was everything that could have been expected of a gentleman and lady, and deserving the highest praise. I am opposed to General Grant in everything, but I would do him justice."

The foregoing is the principal part of my conversation with the General. I give the conversation, and leave the reader to form his own opinions as to what General Forrest means to do. I think that he has been so plain in his talk that it cannot be misunderstood.

CARD FROM SENATOR GRAHAM.

The non-appearance of the annexed card in yesterday's GAZETTE resulted from an oversight of our own:

MESSRS. EDITORS: Last evening's Chronicle contains a note from Mr. A. W. Foster, Democratic candidate for State Senator, addressed to James L. Graham, Esq., Radical candidate for State Senate:

"SIR—The Commercial of this morning reports you as having charged the Democratic party with being opposed to the payment of the National debt, and with being opposed to the payment of pensions to the wounded soldiers of the late Army of the Union.

"I pronounce these charges severally false, and challenge you to produce in joint discussion a title of evidence of their truth."

The reporter of the Commercial is slightly in error. What I did say was, "That the Democratic platform declared the reconstruction measures of Congress 'unconstitutional, revolutionary and void,' and the fourth section of the fourteenth article, upon which the reconstruction measures are based, and the adoption of which the Democracy have everywhere opposed, provides 'That the rebel debt shall not be paid by the United States, and that the debt of the United States incurred in prosecuting the war shall be sacred and never repudiated.'"

The gentleman invites me to a joint discussion of political questions. Those discussions have not been customary in this county. The press reports speakers as fully as may be desired. Any citizen who wishes can hear either of the candidates at any time. The introduction of a plan of joint meetings would accomplish no good end for either party. I regard his proposition, therefore, as indicating only a wish to obtain cheap notoriety, and prefer to adhere to the usual mode of conducting political campaigns in this community.

JAS. L. GRAHAM.

A Letter to Mr. Burtt.

ANDREW BURTT, Esq.—Dear Sir: As Workingmen, we have watched your recent course with considerable interest. The tone of your speeches, from the one you made before the Democratic Convention on the day you were nominated, to the present, has been such as to give aid and comfort to the party who tried to destroy our country, and to lead them to believe that you are not only friendly to them, but that you desire and will vote for the success of their ticket.

It is true that you have used your "Damascus sword," cutting without mercy at the leaders of both the Democratic and Republican parties. Admitting there to be some justice in your criticisms, the question arises, who shall we trust as leaders in the campaign now going on? Are you quite sure that you merit such a position? You say that Workingmen are intelligent and have the right to know who and what their leaders are, yet you have kept us in the dark as to your opinion on the momentous question of who ought to be made President for the next four years.

We strongly suspect that the cause of your silence on that important question is that you dare not (for fear of losing votes for yourself) make an open declaration of your views, and thereby we think you exhibit the same political craft that you so boldly condemn in others.

No man knows better than yourself, that the meetings which are now being held all over the county and country are for the purpose of educating and shaping public opinion for an intelligent expression of choice of a chief magistrate for the next four years.

No high-minded, outspoken, patriotic citizen, such as you lead us to believe you are, should in a time like this (in our humble opinion,) occupy a negative or a questionable position, or allow his ambition for an office to prevent him from a manly avowal of his views on all proper public occasions. You must not deceive yourself with the idea that we think your elevation to office is more important than all other political considerations. We desire to vote for the best interests of our country, regardless of men. We cannot help thinking that those who defended her by their money or muscle, when she needed help, are more worthy of our confidence and votes than those who declared the war for her defence a failure.

Your position as candidate for the Workingmen was, in our opinion, consistent. But your present political attitude as merely a nominal candidate for the Labor Reform party, while you are expecting and receiving your principal support from a party who did their utmost to overturn our free labor institutions, country and all, and to erect a new government founded on the aristocratic idea of capital owning its laborers, is to our minds entirely inconsistent and irreconcilable. Laboring men have often been duped and mislead by the sophistries of party leaders. In the light of our experience, we must give our votes to men who occupy no equivocal position—men who are now identified with the Union party of the nation, and are not afraid to speak out what they mean.

With respect, we are yours truly,
MANY WORKINGMEN.

CINCINNATI papers report that the whole Johnson party in that city and county has gone over to Grant and Colfax; its organ announces itself as Republican, and the leaders do the same.

PHYSICAL EXHAUSTION.

Worn out with the burning heats of Summer, the human system requires to be reinforced and regenerated at this season. Strength has literally been steaming out of it under a temperature that necessarily produces exhaustion. Fall is the season of remittent and intermittent fevers, and the weak and enervated are always their first victims. Now, therefore, is the time for invigoration. Those who have neglected to tone and regulate the digestive and secretive organs during the months of June and July, can no longer continue to do so without imminent peril to health and life. Commence a course of HOSTETTER'S BITTERS without delay. Of all renovating, strength-sustaining preparations this is the most wholesome and the most potent. It does not unduly excite the most sensitive organization. Its mission is to preserve, regulate and restore. The tonic, anti-bilious and aperient vegetable elements which it contains are associated in the exact proportions necessary to put the whole physique into perfect working order. The purity of all its ingredients is guaranteed. It rouses the languid appetite, gives unwonted energy to the digestion, calms and braces the nerves, and replaces lassitude and depression with energy and cheerfulness; besides being agreeable to the palate and free from all the objections urged against the adulterated stimulants and tonics, of which it is designed to supply the place.

CHRONIC DISEASES OF THE EAR.

In observations and notes taken by Dr. KEYSER, of this city, on the various diseases of the ear, he says that nine out of ten cases could be cured in their incipiency if application were made to some responsible and competent aural surgeon. The Doctor quotes from the opinion of Wilde, a well known aural surgeon, who says: "I fear not to reiterate the assertion which I made on several former occasions, that if the disease of the ear were as well studied or understood by the generality of practitioners, and as early attended to as those of the eye, it would be found that they were just as much within the pale of scientific treatment. * * Deafness is so common and so distressing an infirmity, and when of long standing so incurable, that we cannot too strongly urge all medical practitioners to make themselves familiar with the treatment of the diseases of the ear."

The Doctor says that nearly all annoying Discharges, Buzzings and Morbid Growths peculiar to the organ of the hearing, some of which had lingered through a score or two of years, can be cured or ameliorated by proper treatment.

GENUINE

GLYCERINE TOILET SOAP,

MANUFACTURED BY

PETER SQUIRE, 277 Oxford street London.

This Soap has been, by a peculiar process, freed from the excess of alkali almost invariably found even in the purest Soaps, and at the same time it is made to take up a large quantity of Glycerine (40 per cent). It is to this latter substance that it chiefly owes its soothing quality—softening the skin, preserving the complexion, preventing chapping and the unpleasant roughness experienced in cold weather. It is found most useful in alleviating the irritation produced by dryness of the skin. On account of its great purity it recommends itself to all persons that suffer from the use of common Soaps; for delicate skins it is the only Soap that can be tolerated. It is particularly useful for cleansing diseased skins, where the irritation produced by ordinary Soaps causes so much inconvenience. It is the most agreeable Shaving Soap that can be used, leaving the skin soft and comfortable. The Soaps usually sold as Glycerine Soaps contain little or no Glycerine. It is only necessary to apply the tongue to the surface and the genuine will be distinguished by the sweet taste. Agent,

SIMON JOHNSTON,

Corner Smithfield and Fourth Streets.

Also, agent for SARG'S VIENNA GLYCERINE SOAP. au15;TTs

FINANCE AND TRADE.

OFFICE OF PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, WEDNESDAY, September 2, 1868.

The receipts of Grain at Chicago continue remarkably heavy, aggregating over seven hundred thousand bushels on Monday. The receipts of Flour for the week ending on Saturday were 59,774 bbls, and the shipments, 37,768 bbls; receipts of Wheat for same time, 761,614 bushels, and shipments, 593,698. The Tribune, of Tuesday, says of Wheat:

"Wheat was fairly active, but dropped in price, owing to continued full receipts and heavy promises. The shippers were quite willing to take hold at reduced prices, but there were very few shorts to fill, and the business was of the legitimate order, presenting the anomaly of a falling market with a good inquiry. Parties who buy for shipment profess to be willing to take hold even more largely if holders will moderate their views to something like a paying rate, and there is nothing will bring this about more effectually than the good competition between sellers which must come when they are numerous and individually well weighted.

—The Philadelphia Ledger, in answer to a correspondent, says: By the last annual statement of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, as sworn to by its officers, on the 31st of January, 1868, the total amount paid in of capital stock was $21,045,750. Since then the Company has sold five millions of stock, making its entire paid up capital about twenty-six millions of dollars. The Board of Directors have authority to further increase the capital whenever in their opinion the interests of the Company may require more capital. The indebtedness may be increased dollar for dollar with the increase of paid up capital, and no faster.

—The New York Times of Wednesday says: Private letters from the manufacturers of Woolen and other Goods, on the Continent of Europe, who are now making large consignments to the American market, advise their factors here not to remit Exchange at the present currency of Gold, but to place the avails of their consignments in United States 5-20s, giving the preference to the cheapest class of these Bonds, without reference to date. These instructions indicate a settled confidence in the public faith of the United States, and also a purpose to hold our 5-20s, without regard to the daily speculations on the Frankfort Bourse or the London Exchange, both of which continue to discriminate in favor of the original issue of 1862.

—The Milwaukee Wisconsin, of 28th, says of the wheat crop of that State: "The wheat harvest in the State of Wisconsin has all been gathered, and turns out to be much superior in quantity and quality than last year. It is estimated the average yield per acre this year will be twenty bushels, while last year it was not more than twelve and will hold out weight—that is, 60 pounds to the measured bushel."

—Closing quotations received by James T. Brady & Co.: Gold, 145; United States Sixes, 1881's, 114¼; 5-20's, 1862, 113⅝; 5-20's, 1864, 109¾; 5-20's, 1865, 111⅝; 10-40's, 105¼; 5-20's, January and July, '65, 108¾; 5-20's, January and July, '67 108½; '68, 108½; June 7-30's, par less ¼; July 7-30's, do ¼; August 119; Sept., 119; Oct. 118½; Union Pacific Railroad, 102; Central, 103.

PITTSBURGH MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, WEDNESDAY, September 2, 1868.

There seems to be a slightly increased volume of business in the general markets, and for some of the leading articles there is an improved demand, and, as a consequence, prices are higher. Corn meets with considerable inquiry and is firmer, and the same is true of Oats and Barley. Provisions steady but unchanged, and the same is true of Flour. The receipts of all kinds of produce continue liberal, and the supply of almost everything is pretty well up to the demand.

APPLES—In good supply and dull but unchanged, ranging from $2 to $3,50 per bbl, for common to choice.

BUTTER—Is in fair demand, and we can report regular sales of prime to choice at 34 to 36c.

EGGS—Quiet and unchanged at 18c for fresh packed.

CHEESE—Is reported quiet and unchanged; sales of Western Reserve and Hamburg at 14 to 15c; Factory at 16 to 17c; Goshen at 18 and Sweitzer at 20.

GROCERIES—The Grocery market is quiet but steady, and while there is a fair volume of business, in the aggregate, prices, since the date of our last report, have undergone no quotable change. The following are the ruling quotations:

SUGARS—Cuba, 12½c for good grocery 12¾ to 13c for prime; and 14c for choice; Porto Rico—good, 13c; prime, 13½; choice, 14½ to 15c; Clarified Cuba, 14 to 14½c. Refined—Standard Hard, 17½c; A, 16½c; B, 16¼c; Extra C, 15¾c; Sugar House, 10½ to 11.

COFFEE—Rio ranges all the way from 22 to 27c for common to strictly prime. Java 37 to 38c.

SYRUPS—Lovering's $1,05; Silver Drips, $1,05; White Drips, $1,15; medium brands, 75 to 85c; common, 50 to 60c; Booth & Edgar Syrup, 95.

RICE—Rangoon, good, 10c; prime to choice, 11 to 11½c; Carolina, 12 to 12½c.

MOLASSES—New Orleans, 90 to $1; Cuba, 65 to 70c; Porto Rico, 70 to 85c.

SPICES—Cassia, 80 to 85c; Cloves 50c; Pepper, 38c; Allspice, 35c; Nutmegs, $1,50.

STARCH—Madison, 8c; Silver Gloss, 12½c, and Corn Starch, 13½c.

FRUITS—Layer Rasins, $4,75 per box; Valentia, 20c per lb; Prunes, 17c; Currants, 14c for new.

BAR LEAD—12c; Shot, $3,50 per bag.

SOAPS—"Babbit's," 12c; "Oakely's," 11½c; Rosin, 5 to 7c; "Dobbin's," 15c.

CANDLES—Mould, 16c; Star, 23c.

CONCENTRATED LYE—$8,00 per case.

BI CARB SODA—$8,50 per 100.

FISH—White Fish, $9,00. Lake Herring, $5,00; Mackerel No. 1, $22; No; 2, $18,00; No. 3, $13,50; in half barrels, 50c more.

GRAIN—The mills, although well supplied with Wheat, continue to take all that offers at $2.10 to $2,15 for Red, and 3 to 5c higher for White. Oats firmer, under the influence of an improved demand; we have 600 bushels (38 lbs to the bushel) reported at 62c, on platform, and small sales at 64 to 65c. Corn is in demand and advancing; sale of 3,000 bushels, prime Yellow, to a distiller, at $1,15, and 1 car mixed, on private terms—supposed to be at $1,12. Rye is unchanged at $1,40. Barley is firmer and higher; sale of 2 cars prime No. 1 Spring at $2—sold to an Allegheny brewer.

SEEDS—Flaxseed is in steady demand $2,25. Timothy Seed is being sold at $3,25 to the trade and $3,50 in a retail way. Clover seed is nominal at $7,50 to $8.

SALT—Is dull and nominally unchanged at $1,75 $1,80 to the trade, and $2 for small lots in store.

LARD OIL—Is firm but unchanged at $1,20 for No. 2, and $1,50 for No. 1.

PROVISIONS—Bacon is in steady demand, but unchanged at 14 to 14½c for Shoulders; 16½ to 16¾c for Ribbed, and 18¾ for Clear Sides, and 22 to 22½ for Sugar Cured Hams. Lard is quoted at 19¼ to 19¾ in tierces; and 21 to 21½ in kegs. Mess Pork $30,50 to 31.

HAY—Is firm but unchanged, with regular sales at from $20 to $30 per ton, according to quality.

POTATOES—Sales at $3,50 to $3,75 per bbl and $1,25 to $1,30 per bushel. Jersey Sweets unchanged at $6,50 to $7 per bbl.

FLOUR—There is a moderate local demand, but there is not much inquiry for Shipment, and while the market is quiet, prices are unchanged. Spring Wheat Flour is selling at $10 to $10,25 for new and $10,50 to $10,75 for old, Winter Wheat $11 to $11,25. The "Pearl" and "City Mills" continue to quoute at $11,30, for White Wheat in barrels, and 11 in sacks; and Red Wheat at $10,80 in barrels, and $10,50 in sacks. Rye Flour, $9,50 for old.

PITTSBURGH PETROLEUM MARKET.

OFFICE OF THE PITTBURGH GAZETTEE, WEDNESDAY, September 2, 1868.

CRUDE.

The Crude market is dull, and devoid of any new or important characteristics worthy of special notice. The demand continues very light, being restricted mainly to supplying the immediate wants of some refiners who are short on maturing contracts of Refined, and while prices are unchanged, compared with yesterday, and a slightly firmer feeling was reported in some quarters, the tendency, nevertheless, is downward, and is so regarded by the majority of those engaged in the trade. There was but a single sale reported, 500 bbls delivered on cars at Oil City at $4,40. Spot oil is quoted here at 11½ to 12c; seller's option, next four months, at 10½c; buyer's option, same delivery, at 12 to 12½c; seller's option from January to July, 1869, at 10c.

REFINED.

The Refined market is dull and uninteresting to outsiders, generally, though we have, no doubt, the situation is sufficiently interesting to many, especially those who are "short, as well as those who are "long." The sales to-day were three lots of 500 each for October at 31c, and 500 each September to November at 31c. It was rumored that there had been a sale of spot oil at 30¼c, and we heard of an offer to sell the last four months at 30½c; also, September to March at 30c. The market continues in a very unsettled and panicky condition, and is still subject to those frequent fluctuations, which have prevailed for some time past. The eastern markets appear to be about in the same condition as our own.

New York Dry Goods Market.

(By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.)

NEW YORK, September 2.—Dry Goods market steady and fairly active, more particularly for woolen and worsted fabrics, which sell at good prices, if we except desirable styles and shades of colors. In cotton goods the business is not quite so active as expected, although there is a steady and fair demand for popular makes of heavy brown sheetings at 16a17c for Grantville A A, Stark A, Amoskeog and Appleton A, and Golden Ridge at 13c. Bleached muslins are generally steady; Lonesdale 18c and Blackstone 16c. Painted colors in fair demand, and although not in active request, still the goods are held with more firmness, notwithstanding desperate efforts are made to break down the price; we quote Pacific Prints 13½; Lowell 11; Androscoggin 10½; the latter is on a good sixty-square fine cloth, and meets with favor. There is an active inquiry for Chamelon yard wide Twills, at 37½@50, and Chamelon at 27¼ for narrow, and 42½ for wide goods. Fine woolen cloths, good styles and colorings, sell freely at 2,00@2,50 for narrow, and 4,00@5,00 for double width.

LETTERS FROM EUROPE---NO. 8.

A Day at Frankfort-on-the-Main.

MAYENCE, PRUSSIA, August, 1868.

In our steamboat voyage up the Rhine, during our stay at Mayence, we made an excursion by rail, occupying one day, to the most famous and widely known Frankfort-on-the Main. It is so named to distinguish it from another town of the same name in Prussia. It is a city of great antiquity, dating back to the time of Charlemagne, and is one of the most interesting and important towns for the traveller to visit in the kingdom of Prussia. For many generations and centuries it has been one of the most wealthy and influential cities in Germany. It was an imperial city. Emperors were elected, and after their election were crowned in it, and Electors from all parts of the German empire assembled within its walls to consult and cast their votes. It was formerly a free city of the Empire, and till 1866 one of the free towns of the German Confederation, and seat of the Diet, but is now Prussian. For a long time Frankfort was independent, or free. She stood almost alone on her independence amony many dependent States and towns. Of her position she was proud. Her independence was her boast and cause of glorying. She had her own army, her own government and managed her own affairs; but in the late war between Austria and Prussia, she lost her independence and is now subject to the Prussian government. Her own government has been taken from her as a consequence of her mistaken zeal in presuming to attack, with Austria, the government of Prussia. The people complain bitterly. They regret their present conpition, and say that they are willing to be Germans but not Prussians.

The origin of the name Frankfort is somewhat singular, Frank means free, and fort is from a German word meaning ford or passage. In former times, and also in the present, at the bridge over the Main, no toll is charged. Every one passes over gratis, it is a free ford or passage, and hence the name Frankfort. The first bridge over the Main was built by Charlemagne, and in the centre of the one which now spans the river, there is a large statue of the great conqueror holding in his right hand a sword and in his left a globe representing the world with a cross on it. The Main flows into the Rhine; it is a narrow but deep stream, and Frankfort is situated on its North side, about thirty miles distant from Mayence one hour's ride in the cars.

Like all other European cities, its ancient parts are easily distinguished from the modern by their crooked and narrow streets, and the antique appearance of the buildings. A style of architecture has been adopted here which we have seen in no other city on the Continent. Each higher story in the building projects out from, and over, the lower story. The projections are from one to four feet in width, and the number of projectections is determined by the number of stories. Thus a house of four stories has three projections; a house of five stories four projections, and so on. The object of course, is to give more room—to enlarge the area within the walls without enlarging the base or foundation of the structure. In consequence of this style of erecting houses, the tops of dwellings on opposite sides of the same street are often not more than six or seven feet asunder, while the street between them is fourteen or sixteen feet wide. In walking along such streets, often times you can see but a few paces a head, so crooked is the street, and but a small arc of the sky above you, so near are the eaves of the roofs together. In emerging from these crooked, narrow, and always dirty streets, into those more recently built, and into parts of the city more recently laid out, a striking difference is presented. The streets are wider, and better planned; shade trees are along the side walks; the houses are less angular and more beautiful; projections are not seen, and everything presents an appearance of greater neatness, order and comfort.

Let me now describe to your readers what we saw in Frankfort. On alighting from the cars, we first made our way to the Romer (Roman Place), given to the city by one of the Emperors A. D. 1406. This is a low-arched, gloomy, sombre-looking building, but rich and grand in historic interest. Turning to the left and ascending a flight of stairs you enter the "Imperial Hall," a room of about as near as I could judge thirty-five by fifty feet, the room in which the Emperor was once crowned, in which he dined with the Electors and from the balcony of which he immediately afterward appeared to the crowd in the square below.

It is now a picture gallery, and around its walls are splendid portraits, by the greatest masters, of the German Emperors, beginning with Charlemagne, of the tenth century, and extending down to Francis II., who died in 1806, forty-seven in all. From the Imperial Hall we passed into the "Election Room," now occupid by the City Council, but formerly used by the Electors for consultation and the transaction of business before casting their final votes. The tapestried walls, the allegorical paintings on the ceiling, the clock, mirrors and furniture (all except the chairs) are the same now that they were centuries ago. From the Romer we wended our way to the celebrated and widely known "Jews' street," the birthplace of the Rothschilds, the most wealthy men and extensive bankers in the world. I had read many descriptions of this street, of its appearance, dirt, the houses on it, &c., but it would be almost impossible for any pen to exceed the reality. Jews' street is so called because for three centuries and a half, from 1462 to 1806, all the Jews in Frankfort were compelled by law to live on it. The prejudice against them was so great, on account of their religious belief, that they were only allowed to live on a certain street. At each extremity of their street there was a gate which was locked at night, on Sundays and holidays, and at those times no Jew dare venture into any other part of the city except under a heavy penalty. Thus were they proscribed, and this proscription continued till the beginning of the present century. Jews' street is one of the most crooked and filthy in Frankfort. It is not more than fourteen feet in width, and the water course is right in the centre. It is now exclusively occupied by dealers in second-hand goods and wares of different varieties. Old clothes, old boots and shoes, old iron and furniture are bought and sold on it. There is not a clean, tidy looking house on either side of the whole street. The buildings are "gloomy, dirty and antiquated" in their appearance.

Near the northern end of this street is pointed out to the traveler the singular looking structure in which the Rothschilds first saw the light. The number of the house is in large, unseemly figures made with white chalk. Its number is 148. We were sauntering along leisurely, looking to the right and left, when a woman called to us from the window of the second story of a house near by, asking if we were not looking for the Rothschild house, and replying in the affirmative, she said: "There it is," and a few steps brought us to the door. The house is not more than twelve feet wide, four stories high, each story being faced with slate, a style of architecture peculiar to Frankfort. It is evidently still occupied by a Jewish family. I had a desire to go in. The door was wide open, and seeing all the way through to the rear of the dwelling, I cared not go further. Here the Barons were born—men who, by the enormous wealth they have accumulated by their industry and business capacity have compelled the notice and homage of kings and princes. Their business house in Frankfort is but a short distance from Jew street. It is a plain looking building, four stories high, the windows of the lower story being firmly secured by heavy iron gratings. Many of the business houses on Wood street, Pittsburgh, present a better appearance. Leaving Jews' street, we made our way along narrow, crooked and unsightly walks to Hirschgraben street, the birth-place of Goethe, one of Germany's ripest scholars, and her most gifted poet. The house is a good one, though very old. It is four stories, with projections from the base of each except the first. It was going into decay, but has been purchased by a society, composed of the friends and admirers of Goethe, and by them has been repaired and renovated. Over the door is the following inscription: "Johann Wolfgang Goethe was born in this house, 28th Aug. 1749." Not many squares from the place of his birth, in the centre of a platz formerly used as a horse market, a fine bronze statue of Goethe has been erected. He holds in his left hand a wreath of laurels, symbolical, I suppose, of the crown he won by his poetical genius.

Another place of interest to us in Frankfort was what is called the Luther house. It known to those who are acquainted with the events of the Reformation of the sixteenth century, that in 1521 Luther was summoned before the Diet at Worms. On his way thither he stopped at Frankfort, and remained over Lord's Day. Not being allowed to preach in any of the Catholic churches, he went to the second story of a house but a few steps from the Cathedral, and from the open window addressed the crowd below. There was great excitement among the people at the time. Luther was on his way to Worms to appear before Charles V. and the electors of Germany. Over the front entrance of the house in Frankfort, from the window of which he preached, is a likeness, in half relief, of Luther, and around it a scroll, on which is inscribed in Latin the passage he used as a text: "In quietness and peace shall be your strength"' Our mind, while standing there, reverted to bygone centuries, and to the time when the voice of the great Reformer pealed like a trumphet through all Germany, awakening thousands to the enjoyment of new life in Christ.

I may say here that we saw the other day at Worms a noble monument to Luther and his co-adjutors. It is the best, most fitting monument, and most appropriate in design of any we have seen in Europe. It was begun in 1856, and the ceremonies of its erection were held on the 24th, 25th and 26th of last June. It was a great occasion. Many of the most eminent men in Europe were present. Kings and princes and statesmen were there. In 1521 Luther stood as the accused before Kings and electors. In 1868 Kings and electors and princes bowed before Luther. The monument is worth seeing, and is a fitting tribute to the memory of one who did so much for God and humanity.

We saw other interesting objects in Frankfort, but of them I cannot now write. Frankfort is the Wall street of Europe for American bonds and securities. Men go there from all quarters to buy and sell; and in one of the banking house windows we saw a likeness of Mr. Lincoln, a fifty dollar bond and a ten dollar greenback.

In the evening we took a seat in the car and in forty-five minutes were back at Mayence feeling amply repaid by what we had seen. J. K.

RECOMMENDATIONS.

The following are a few selected from the multitude of recommendations in our possession:

[From W. P. Heald, Esq., Bangor, Me.]
BANGOR, Me., April 24, 1868.

I hereby certify that I have used tobacco for thirty years past, and for the last fifteen years I have used two pounds per month. I have made attempts to leave off at different times. I have left off one year at a time, but always continued to hanker for it until I used Orton's Preparation, which has completely cured me of the appetite for tobacco. I would recommend all who are affected with this terrible habit to try the preparation, which will certainly cure it if the directions are followed.
W. P. HEALD.

[From E. W. Adkins, Knoxville, Tenn.]
KNOXVILLE, Tenn., August 5, 1867.

This is to certify that I had used tobacco to such an extent that my health had become greatly impaired, and my whole system deranged and broken down. In June, 1867, I purchased one box of Orton's Preparation, and after using it I found that I was completely cured. I have not had any hankering or desire for tobacco since using the preparation. I believe it to be all that it is recommended, and I would advise all who wish to quit the use of tobacco to try one box of Orton's Preparation.
E. W. ADKINS.

[From John Morrill, Bangor, Me.]
BANGOR, Me., March 24, 1868.

This is to certify that I have used tobacco for eighteen years: have tried many times to leave off, but have suffered so much from a dizziness in my head, and gnawing at my stomach, that I have soon given up the trial. A short time since a friend induced me to try Orton's Preparation (sold by you.) I have done so, and am completely cured. I did not in the least hanker after tobacco, either to smoke or chew, after I began to use the Preparation.

CITY AND SUBURBAN.

Daily Prayer Meeting—From 12 M. to 12:30 o'clock at the Rooms of the Christian Association, No. 23 Fifth street.

We print on our seventh page this morning a very interesting Foreign Letter from Rev. Dr. Joseph King.

Recovering.—Samuel Bell, the colored man who was stabbed at a picnic in Davis' Grove last week, is recovering.

Another Accident.—Mr. Williams, an aged gentleman, was run over by a buggy on Wood street yesterday. Another accident caused by reckless driving.

Allegheny Councils.—A special meeting of Allegheny City Councils will be held this evening to take action on the mode of payment for the construction of sewers.

Progressing.—Work on the Monongahela wharf extension above Smithfield street is being pushed forward rapidly. The wharf is being filled up with earth, the cobble stones having been previously removed.

Knocked Over by a Horse.—Last evening a little girl sitting on the curb on Center avenue was knocked over by a horse, on which was mounted a colored boy. One of the little girl's lower limbs was somewhat bruised, but not severely.

Disorderly Conduct.—Thomas Watson made information before the Mayor yesterday charging Michael Fally with disorderly conduct. He alleges that Michael came to his premises in the Ninth ward and behaved in a very disorderly manner.

Completed.—We noticed a few weeks since the fall of the new stack at Coward's brick yard, in the Sixth ward, and stated that workmen were engaged in rebuilding it. We learned yesterday morning that it has been completed and the scaffolding removed, and that the brick works are again in operation.

Picnic.—Owing to the inclemency of the weather on Tuesday, the picnic and bazaar for the benefit of the new Catholic church, Oakland, was not a success. It will be repeated on Saturday next at McFarland's Grove. Liberal arrangements have been made to secure the enjoyment of all who attend.

Disorderly Conduct.—Catharine Kuble made information before Justice Ammon, yesterday, charging John Dank with disorderly conduct. She alleges that the accused came to her residence in Birmingham, during the absence of her husband, and grossly insulted her. A warrant was issued for his arrest.

Kegs and Demijohns.—Adam Webber made information yesterday before Alderman Strain against Michael Slattery for larceny as bailee. Adam alleges that Slattery obtained from him three kegs and two demijohns, which he refuses to return. They were filled with Adam's ale. The accused was arrested and held for a hearing.

Alleged Forcible Entry.—Peter Leib made information before Alderman Muller, yesterday, against P. Risner and S. Wickline for forcible entry and detainer. The prosecutor alleges that the accused entered his house and seized the furniture, afterwards locking the door and taking the key away with them. Warrants were issued.

Abandonment.—Catharine Edmonds made information before the Mayor yesterday charging her husband John W. Edmonds with abandonment. The prosecutor resides in Manfield. She alleges that the accused who is her lawful husband, left her about two months ago and she has not heard from him since. A warrant was issued for his arrest.

Two gentlemen, lately returned from a visit to Conneaut Lake, speak in the highest terms of its beauty and attractions, and also of the courtesy of Mr. and Mrs. Nelson of the "Lake House," who are unremitting in attention to the comfort of their guests. Those fond of fishing, shooting or sailing, could nowhere pass a more delightful week than at Evansburg.

Serious Accident.—John Stewart, a workman engaged at Graff, Byers & Co.'s gas pipe works in South Pittsburgh, met with a serious accident yesterday. He was working with a piece of hot gas pipe which he thrust into a tub of water for the purpose of cooling it when the steam rushed up into his face, scalding him severely. Dr. Wolf was called immediately and dressed his face, after which he was removed to his home.

Nuisance.—Fred. Shutte made information before Justice Ammon, yesterday, charging Jacob Dyer with maintaining a public nuisance. He alleges that the accused keeps a slaughter house on Josephine street, East Birmingham, and that he throws the refuse from the same upon the street, to the great annoyance of the community and detriment to the health of the citizens. A warrant was issued for his arrest.

Alleged False Pretense.—Mary Bunton, who keeps a boarding house in Temperanceville, made information before Alderman McMaster's yesterday against Martin Connor, charging him with false pretense in obtaining boarding to the amount of seventy dollars by representing that he had money due him from Messrs. Zug & Painter, which representation she has since ascertained to be false. A warrant was issued for the arrest of Martin.

Took Time.

Hugh McHugh alleges that his friend, Michael Byoff, borrowed a timepiece from him, and when requested to return the same ungenerously and emphatically refused to do so. The article was valued at forty dollars, and, as Hugh was unwilling to part with it, he lodged an information against Michael for larceny as bailee, on which a warrant was issued by Alderman McMasters yesterday.

Reception.

The Vestry of St. Peters Church will give a reception to their Rector, this evening at eight o'clock, in the Sunday School room, in the basement of the Church.

The entertainment will be under the supervision of the ladies of the parish. All of the members of the congregation in regular attendance at St. Peters Church, and others who may desire to connect themselves with the parish, are cordially invited to be present and meet the Rector on this occasion.

A Youthful Burglar.

About half-past ten o'clock last night a boy about fifteen years of age, who gives his name as John Hardy, was arrested on a charge of burglary. Officer John Glenn, who was on duty on Fifth street, while passing the cutlery store of Sands & Reineman, between Wood and Market streets, saw the boy in the store, and calling two or three officers to his assistance sent them to the back of the building to watch for the young thief while he obtained the key and entered the store to arrest him. The boy, as soon as the officer approached the door, ran up stairs and escaped from the building by a back window, through which he had entered by climbing upon the roof of a shed. He jumped from the shed to the ground, and before the officer who was placed there to watch him could catch him, he scaled the wall of an adjoining building and passing over the roof jumped down on the opposite side. The officers, however, followed him, and finally captured him on Fourth street, near Liberty, and took him to the lock-up. He had in his possession a watch which he had taken from the store.

POLITICAL.

Meeting of the County Executive Committee—Hon. John Sherman to Speak at City Hall on Monday Evening Next—Mass Meeting to be Held in Front of Hare's Hotel on the 12th Inst.—Resolution in Regard to the Vermont Election.

A regular meeting of the County Republican Executive Committee was held in the City Building yesterday afternoon, Hon. Russell Errett Chairman, and Col. John H. Stewart Secretary. The reports from all parts of the county were encouraging.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved.

The various standing committees reported progress.

W. S. Purviance offered the following resolution which was adopted:

Resolved, That a meeting for Hon. John Sherman be held on Monday night, September 7, in City Hall, and that the Chair appoint a Committee of Arrangements.

The Chairman appointed the following named gentlemen as members of the committee. W. S. Purviance, F. M. Magee, Wm. B. Hunter, G. F. Morgan, S. Kilgore, L. C. Dickson and Alex. Highlands.

It was resolved to hold a mass meeting in front of Hare's Hotel, on the evening of September 12th, at which an address will be delivered by Judge Bond, of Maryland, and Gen. King, of Baltimere, who was a member of Gen. Hancock's staff.

Mr. Purivance offered the following resolution in regard to the Vermont election, which was unanimously adopted:

Resolved, That this committee has heard with feelings of unfeigned satisfaction the news of the Vermont election, and heartily congratulates the Green Mountain Boys upon the glorious success which has crowned their efforts, and we greet the result there attained as the sure precursor of the ground swell which will, as a "wheiming tide," sweep the whole country in November next for Grant and Colfax.

On motion, a committee of three, consisting of Hugh S. Fleming, Mr. Hare and Mr. Heath, was appointed to make arrangements for the meeting to be held at Tarentum on the 10th inst.

The Republican voters of the Fifteenth ward held a meeting on Monday evening last and organized a Grant and Colfax Club by electing the following officers:

On Tanner and Grant Clubs—Maj. Joseph Brown, Chairman, with power to appoint Committee.

These Committees are now actively at work, and are arranging as fast as they can. Every indication promises a splendid display on that occasion.

Seventh Ward, Allegheny—Election of Councilman.

On Tuesday, in accordance with the Mayor's proclamation, a special election for one member of Common Council, to fill the unexpired term of Henry Geyer, resigned, was held in the Seventh ward, Allegheny. The contest was between Peter Rishner, Republican nominee, and James Stewart, Democratic, and resulted in the election of Mr. Richner, the vote being as follows:

Rishner	203
Stewart	117

Mr. Rishner is well known in the ward, has long been identified with its interests, and will doubtless fill the position with acceptability to all concerned.

Meetings to be Held This Evening.

Republican meetings will be held this evening as follows:

Mount Washington, at School House. Speakers, J. F. Slagle and John Dalzell, Esqs.

Wigwam, East Liberty. Speakers. A. M. Brown and Thomas Howard, Esqs. A pole 200 feet high will be raised.

Elizabeth Township, Allen School House. Speakers: H. H. McCormick, W. B. Cook and E. A. Montooth, Esqs.

The Sængerfest Concert.

In our notice of the Sængerfest concert of Tuesday night, an expressed criticism of Mrs. Denning's part by no means met with the favor of those eminently skilled in the science of vocal music. Not that it was unjust, however, but that the combining circumstances of the occasion, which rendered clear and finished vocalism almost impossible, were overlooked, to the disparagement of the lady. Few are yet more brilliant than she as an interpreter in the higher walks of vocalization, and her voice possesses all the richness which characterized it in days gone by, and to be appreciated must be heard in the parlor, church or hall, not in a commodious shed such as the Rink, where the beauties of any voice are lost.

Assault and Battery.

Peter Rodgers, school teacher in the Eleventh ward public school, made information yesterday before the Mayor, charging John Kilrain with assault and battery, and at the same time and place Kilrain prefered a similar charge against Rodgers. It appears that Kilrain's son is a pupil in Rodger's school, and a few days since the boy was chastised by Rodgers for some misconduct. Kilrain thought that the chastisement was too severe, and the first time he met Rodgers thereafter, he chastized him by striking him with his fist and knocking him down. The parties were both arrested and held for a hearing.

THE SÆNGERFEST.

The Concert Last Night—Appearance of Turners' Hall—The Attendance—The Programme.

Turners' Hall, on Sixth avenue, was crowded to its utmost capacity last evening, with the wit, beauty, and fashion of the music-loving portion of our community, on the occasion of the second Grand Concert of the Sængerfest, given by the visiting Societies. The Hall had been specially prepared for the entertainment and presented an exceedingly attractive and tasteful appearance. Festoons of evergreen hung gracefully from the galleries, all the way round. The names of the different Societies, and portraits of distinguished composers, encircled by wreaths of evergreen, adorned the walls. Here and there flags, streamers and floral wreathes were scattered over the pillars and on the gallery panelings. A beautiful arch of evergreen enclosed the stage, on either side of which were flowering plants and vines, while over the whole decorations rays of light from a powerful gasolier cast a brilliant radiance, rendering the appearance of the auditorium at once unique and gorgeous. The audience was one of the finest and most appreciative which we have ever seen assembled, and was excelled by the gathering at the Rink on Tuesday evening in point of numbers only, because the Hall was insufficient to accommodate the throng which endeavored to effect an entrance without success.

The programme of exercises for the contest, embracing selections from some of the most celebrated composers, was participated in by eight of the visiting Societies, the resident Societies being excluded, and occupied about three hours in the rehearsal.

At eight o'clock the exercises commenced with an overture rendered in excellent style by Toerge's orchestra, after which the following programme was gone through with:

PROGRAMME.

PART SECOND.

1. Concert Waltz,

7. Spring Devotion,

8. Grandmamma.....
To conclude with "The Minstrel's Curse."
Grand Tableaux.....By the Turners.

The performance as a whole exhibited no falling off from previous efforts, and seemed to be highly appreciated by the audience, who manifested their approbation in rounds of hearty applause. Several of the pieces, among which were "Beautiful Gusta," "The Rhine," the "Evening Hymn," and the "Grandmamma," were exquisitely rendered and so persistently encored that the performers were compelled to reappear.

The part taken in the affair by the Turners formed a very interesting and entertaining feature of the exercise and was highly enjoyed by the audience. Their feats of strength and agility and the manner in which they were performed were very remarkable and evinced a skill and practice in the art which belong only to the finished athlete.

Previous to the exhibition of the tableaux and immediately following the completion of the musical exercises, the judges, Messrs. H. Kleber, A. Krebs, J. Abel, C. Megraw and A. Kroft, retired but returned in a short time with an unanimous decision awarding the prize to the "Gesangvereen" Society of Cleveland, Prof. Russ, Director. The audience ratified the decision, which seemed to fully meet with their approval, by rapturous applause, waiving of handkerchiefs, clapping of hands and other demonstrations of delight. After the announcement of the decision, the Turners closed the exercises with the grand tableaux vivant, representing in three parts a German traditional fable. The first scene opened with a chorus of minstrels, led by a youth of noble aspect, chanting a national melody in the presence of a Teutonic King, Queen and their Court. The second disclosed to view, just as the King, excited to madness by the effect of the serenade on his spouse, a development in her presenting a rose, which she wore on her breast, to the youth above named, is in the act of revenging his fancied dishonor, by stabbing to the heart the youth, a prince in disguise.

THE MINSTREL'S CURSE,

The third scene exhibits the agony of the father of the minstrel youth, venting itself in a solemnly invoked anathema on the king, his courtiers and his term of rule.

This was decidedly the most interesting performance and hit of the evening, and was welcomed with prolonged and enthusiastic applause. At intervals between the scenes Rev. Schilling rendered in good style Schiller's poem, upon which the tableaux are founded, which served in a great degree to develop the beauty and grandeur of the conception. This performance closed the exercises of the evening, and the large audience slowly dispersed, feeling well pleased with the manner in which the evening had been spent and hoping for a speedy return of a similar occasion.

BUSINESS MEETING OF THE SÆNGERBUND.

The annual business meeting of the District Sængerbund was held in Turner Hall yesterday morning. An election of officers was held, which resulted in the selection of Mr. Steurznagle, of Cleveland, as permanent Chairman. Cleveland was selected as the place for holding the next Sængerfest.

ANOTHER DELEGATION.

Another delegation from Lehigh arrived yesterday but were too late to participate. They will join in the festivities to-day, however, and endeavor to make up for lost time by extra zeal.

THE PROGRAMME TO-DAY.

The programme for to-day, which is the last of the Fest, embraces a procession of all the Societies, a grand picnic at Iron City Park, and a ball at Turner Hall in the evening. The procession will form at Turner Hall, Sixth street, in the morning, and will march over the following route: Sixth street, Smithfield street, Fifth street, Market street, St. Clair street, and Penn to Iron City Park, where the festival will be continued the entire day. Trains will leave the Union Depot for the Park every hour during the day, after 10 A. M., and every arrangement for the enjoyment of those who may attend the picnic has been made.

Card from A. W. Foster, Esq.

PITTSBURGH, September 2, 1868.

TO EDS. GAZETTE: Although denying the right of any one to make any such enquiry, the truth is that I knew nothing of the publication alluded to, or of its preparation until it was for sale in the book stores. I certainly had nothing to do with it.

What all this would have to do with the present contest, even were it true, is more than I can say; besides, a candidate whose life has been such as to compel an enemy to go back thirty odd years and swamp a falsehood, may regard himself as fortunate.

A. W. FOSTER.

—The matter referred to by Mr. Foster will receive attention with as little delay as possible.

From Pittock, opposite the Postoffice, we have received a magnificent photograph of Gen. Grant, the very best out. Pittock keeps all lines of campaign goods for sale.

The Eagle Fire Company—Grand Opening—Address by W. D. Moore, Esq.—The Banquet.

The reopening of the rooms of the Eagle Steam Fire and Hose Company, which took place last evening, was one of the most pleasant entertainments it has ever been our privilege to participate in. The Eagle Company was organized in May, 1794, over seventy-four years ago, when our city was but a village, and has been an active company ever since. Mr. William Eichbaum was the first President of the company, and was also the first Chief Engineer, and was for many years an active member of the company. The history of the Eagle Company is an interesting one, and we regret that the want of time and space prevents us from speaking of it at greater length.

THE ROOMS.

The engine house is located on Fourth street, between Liberty and Ferry, and although it was built several years since, is one of the best arranged and most convenient engine houses in the city. It is a three story building, forty feet front by sixty deep. The first floor is used for an engine room, the stable, which is only a temporary one, being immediately in the rear; the second floor is the parlor, and the third the bunk room. For about a month past the second and third stories have been undergoing repairs; they have been refurnished and fitted up in most excellent style and were opened last night, in honor of which the entertainment was given.

THE BUNK ROOM.

The bunk, which is, as we have stated, on the third floor, has been handsomely papered with heavy column paper, and repainted throughout. The floor is covered with a beautiful Brussells carpet, and two fine chandeliers, with four burners each, furnish the light. The furniture, which consists of four bedsteads, at a cost of $80 each, four wardrobes, at $70, a marble top dressing bureau, and a dozen sofa chairs, is all of solid walnut, and of the latest style. The bedsteads are ornamented with carving of beautiful design. In the centre of the room stands an elegant marble top table, upon which is a large and elegantly bound copy of the Bible. In the hall near the entrance to the room is an elegant hat stand corresponding with the furniture on the inside.

THE PARLOR.

The parlor was next visited, and here we found that the painters, paper hangers and upholsters had been at work also. The woodwork was re-painted and finished in oil, and the walls and ceiling covered with new paper of a rich design. A beautiful Brussels carpet of a most exquisite pattern covers the floor, and the walls are tastefully lined with paintings, engravings and photographs. In the centre of the room is a finely finished piano of Knabe & Co.'s manufacture; back of the piano is a finely finished walnut table with a marble top, upon which is a magnificent set of silverware. A splendid mirror about six feet wide extends from the floor to the ceiling at the back end of the room, and a splendid and expensive chandalier with six burners is suspended from beautiful stucco work in the centre of the ceiling. The remaining furniture consists of four tete-a-tetes, four sofas, a dozen sofa chairs and two reception chairs of solid black walnut with hair cloth cushions.

THE RE-OPENING.

By special invitation a large number of ladies and gentlemen assembled in the parlor last evening and were entertained with music, which was furnished by an orchestra composed of members of the company, and Miss Jennie Morgan, who manipulated the keys of the piano. With pleasant conversation and sweet music the hours sped rapidly. At nine o'clock the assembly was called to order by Col. Joe. Brown, who in his usual happy style introduced W. D. Moore, Esq., who delivered a congratulatory address to the members of the company.

THE BANQUET.

At the close of Mr. Moore's remarks, Col. Joe Brown, on behalf of Capt. Latiner, invited the company to adjourn to Hubly's saloon, on Fourth street, where a sumptuous repast had been prepared for them. The invitation was very generally accepted and the greater portion of the company repaired to Mr. Hubly's, which is but a short distance from the engine house.

The banquet was a most excellent one. It was prepared and arranged in a most acceptable manner, and was dispatched with a zest by the guests which gave ample evidence of their appreciation of it.

After all present had been satisfied, the company dispersed, each going to their respective abodes, and all well pleased with the manner in which they had spent the evening.

Pittsburgh Male and Female Seminary.

At the solicitation of many of the friends of education, Prof. H. I. Gourley has been induced to open a Seminary for boys and girls at Nos. 22 and 24 Fifth street, this city. This move toward the establishment of another first-class educational institution in our midst, by a gentleman so well and so favorably known as a teacher, will be welcomed by a large number of our citizens. That Prof. Gourley is an earnest, progressive, successful and popular teacher can be ascertained by consulting any of the Directors or patrons of the Third ward School, where he held the position of Principal with the greatest success during a period of four years. As a further and still stronger evidence of his success as a teacher, we would state that not less than thirty of his former pupils propose attending the school which he is about to open. We predict for this institution a bright future. Prof. Gourley can be seen daily at the rooms, Nos. 22 and 24 Fifth street. School will open on Monday next, September 7th, and it is important that all pupils should be present promptly the first day.

Preparing for the Fall Trade.

The fall trade will soon open and our merchants are busily engaged in arranging their fresh stocks for its transaction. It has been universally conceded that the coming season will be a prosperous one, as small merchants in the towns and villages have permitted their supplies of goods in all departments to run down very low, awaiting for a change in the markets. This course gave us a dull and drooping spring and summer trade, but as purchases must be made, the stocks having been exhausted, a good time is anticipated in the opening fall season. Goods cannot with any measure of reason be expected to decline below the prices at which they are now held, and merchants and dealers may as well enter the market early as late, for they will secure the same advantages. Prominent amongst the old and reliable business houses strengthening themselves for the opening of trade with immense stocks of foreign and domestic goods is the first class wholesale dry goods establishment of Messrs. McElroy, Dickson & Co., No. 59 Fifth street. This house has for many years occupied a leading position in this line of trade, and has through popular prices and fair dealing succeeded in monopolizing to itself a large share of public patronage. The stock to which the attention of the purchasing community is directed has been selected with much good care and is as complete and varied as any ever opened in this city. It embraces all the latest novelties, fashions, styles and patterns introduced in the Eastern cities, in foreign and domestic cloths, cassimeres, and general dry goods, and will be found as full and choice as could be desired. Dealers who buy to sell again will be convinced on making a visit to the house of McElroy, Dickson & Co., that they can buy with as good advantage there as in the leading establishments of the Eastern cities. Aside from obtaining the best of selection at the most reasonable prices, the purchaser will remember that he saves large items of expense in the way of travel, freight, &c., if he confines his patronage to home. As a specialty this house has laid in a very large stock of those desirable Kittanning extra heavy barred flannels which will commend themselves to purchasers. Having had long personal acquaintance with this house we are prepared to commend it in no hesitating terms to the patronage of our readers.

Presentation to a Worthy Citizen.

MESSRS. EDITORS: A pleasant affair came off at the home of James Espy, Esq., in Upper St. Clair township, on Monday evening, in which the neighborhood generally participated. Mr. Espy is one of the oldest and most respected citizens of the township, and a man highly esteemed as a christian and a gentleman. Being about to remove to Washington county, Pa., where he has purchased a farm, his neighbors and friends gathered in large numbers at his house on Monday evening to testify their respect for him and his family and their regrets at his leaving them.

A very interesting and pleasant part of the exercises on the occasion consisted in the presentation of a fine American silver watch and chain to Mr. Espy and a beautiful silver castor to Mrs. Espy. The articles were presented by Captain John Gilfillan, a life-long neighbor and friend of the 'Squire, in a speech exhibiting much feeling and high regard for his old friend. Mr. Espy replied in a few remarks, expressing his gratitude to his kind neighbors for this mark of their esteem. He was evidently much affected by this unexpected exhibition of the good will of his neighbors. Mr. Z. C. Boyd replied for Mr. Espy in suitable terms.

The Phillips Band was present and enlivened the occasion with delightful music. Also the Miss Espys, Miss Rigdons and Miss Gilfillans sang some beautiful songs, after which the company partook of a rich collation served up by the family. About ten o'clock the large company bade the family adieu, and left for their homes, feeling that it is good and pleasant for brethren to dwell together in unity.

UPPER ST. CLAIR.

Pittsburgh Real Estate Register.

The above is the title of a valuable work issued by the reliable real estate agents, Croft & Phillips, 139 Fourth street. It was formerly known and issued as Croft & Phillips' "Real Estate Register." The many advantages derived from it, and its superiority as a real estate advertising medium, have induced the publishers to change it to the above title, protected by a copyright. They will hereafter issue it regularly on the first of January, May and September. It contains full descriptions, locations, prices and terms of all the property placed in their hands for sale, consisting of farms, mills, stores, hotels, houses, lots, salt works, coal works, city and suburban property, and should be in the hands of all interested in the purchase or sale of real estate. Messrs. Croft & Phillips are extensively engaged in the real estate business and are the only firm in the city that issues a work of this kind. The September number is now ready, and as the circulation of it is gratuitous, it will be sent free to any address. Don't fail to get one.

Most Bitters of the present day that are loudly puffed through the newspapers as having great curative properties are vile compounds and base impositions, containing no medicinal virtues whatever, and are really very poor whisky beverages, and, instead of acting as a stimulant and tonic, have a tendency to weaken the stomach by entirely destroying the coating. The public should therefore be very cautious and purchase none but Roback's Stomach Bitters, which have stood the test as a remedial agent for many years, and are really as their name indicates, a stomach bitters and not a beverage. They combine the properties of the best tonic and a stimulant—a laxative, an efficient and anti-bilious agent and the best stomachic known to the world, and when taken in conjunction with Roback's Blood Pills, are the safest and surest preventive against all bilious derangements, thoroughly regulating the whole system and giving tone to the digestive organs.

They are highly recommended as an invigorating tonic to mothers while nursing, increasing the flow of milk, and for convalescents, to restore the prostration which always follows long-continued sickness, they are unsurpassed. No household should consider themselves safe from the ordinary maladies without these invaluable medicines. They can be obtained of any druggist. 27SF
